4. If the study plan so provides, practical training, laboratory classes, physical education courses, field trips, etc. may be carried out during vacations. Examinations may be held during vacations provided that this has been approved by the teacher (the board) and the student.

Part II.

Study on Bachelor’s and Master’s Programmes of Study

Article 4
Course of Study, Credit System

1. An applicant shall become a student on the date of his enrolment in the University. Enrolment shall take place at the Faculty which implements the relevant programme of study; in the case of programmes of study in accordance with Art. 22 (3) (c) of the Constitution at the Faculty which has been designated in the programme of study in question. The date of enrolment shall be determined by the Dean of the Faculty in question.

2. The Faculty shall issue to the student a Study Credit Book upon enrolment. The University shall issue to the student a Student Identity Card in accordance with the rules set by the Rector’s measure. The student shall take a matriculation oath (Art. 56 (1) of the Constitution); the dates of matriculation ceremonies for individual Faculties shall be determined by the Rector.

3. The study plans (curricula) of a programme of study or a branch of study shall determine mainly time and content, relations between subjects of study, the volume and form of instruction, the number of credits assigned to individual subjects and further details concerning the credit system and the method of assessing study results.

4. The course of study on Bachelor’s and Master’s programmes of study shall be implemented by means of credit system.

5. The course of study on a programme of study shall be divided into individual units in such a way as to enable continuing checking of the course of study and registration for following units of study; registration dates must be published on the official notice board of the Faculty in sufficient advance. A semester or a year may constitute a unit of study; the internal regulation of the Faculty under Art. 19 (1) shall determine units of study for each programme of study. Changes to a study plan in its part concerning a particular unit of study must not be effective for students who are currently enrolled for this unit.

6. If a student has failed to register for a relevant unit of study, the Faculty shall publish a summons for alternative registration; the summons must be published not later than ten working days before the alternative registration date. Failure to register during the alternative registration shall be considered as a case under Art. 12 (1) (b). This provision shall not apply if the student failed to register due to serious reasons.

7. Study plans shall stipulate which subjects shall be compulsory or elective for the given programme of study (branch of study); other subjects taught at the University are regarded as optional subjects for the given programme of study (branch of study). As optional subjects are also regarded subjects taught at other higher education institutions or their parts, or other education or scientific institutions, if so established by an agreement between the faculty or University and that university or institution.

8. The study plan of a relevant programme of study (branch of study) shall assign to any subject and comprehensive examination (Art. 6 (8) (d) ) a definite integer number of credits expressing the ratio between the amount of student’s work connected with passing this subject or comprehensive examination and the overall amount of work connected with completion all subjects and comprehensive examinations recommended by the study plan for the given semester; the assigned number of credits does not depend on the quality of completion of the given subject or comprehensive examination. Study plan of a programme of study shall determine the recommended course of study in such a way that a student who has observed it and fulfilled all his study obligations in a given unit of study shall acquire thirty credits, if the unit of study is semester, or sixty credits, if the unit of study is year.

9. Continuing checking of the course of study means checking the overall number of credits acquired by the student during his course of study up to now. If the student has acquired from the units of study up to now at least such number of credits that corresponds to the sum of credits from the course of study recommended by study plan in these units of study (hereinafter referred to as “normal number of credits”), he is entitled to register for the next unit of study, otherwise such situation shall be considered as a case under Art. 12 (1) (b), provided it is not the case under paragraph (11).

10. If a student acquired more than fifteen percent of the normal number of credits from optional subjects, the Dean shall decide on the eventual inclusion of these over-limit credits for the purpose of the continuing checking of the course of study. The internal regulation of the Faculty under Art. 19 (1) may set this ratio for individual programmes of study (branches of study) performed by that Faculty higher.

11. The internal regulation of the Faculty under Art. 19 (1) may set the minimum number of credits necessary for registration for the next unit of study. In this case, if a student has failed to acquire the normal number of credits but has acquired at least the minimum number of credits, he is entitled to register for the next unit of study. A multiple use of this provision may be excluded or restricted by the internal regulation of the Faculty under Art. 19 (1).
12. Upon a student’s written application, the Dean may permit the taking of one or more units of study according to an individual study plan; at the same time the Dean shall determine its course and conditions. After completion of an individual study plan and in accordance with the conditions above the Dean shall decide on the assignment of an appropriate number of credits in accordance with the established conditions. Other provisions of this Code shall not be prejudiced by this paragraph. The internal regulation of the Faculty under Art. 19 (1) may determine the details.

13. The maximum length of study on a programme of study shall be the standard length of study of this programme plus five years in the case of a Master’s programme of study which is not a continuation of a Bachelor’s programme of study; and plus three years in other cases. Should the student fail to complete his study during this maximum length of time of study, such situation shall be considered as a case under Art.12 (1) (b).

14. The internal regulation of the Faculty under Art. 19 (1) may provide further details concerning the forms of study in which programmes of study shall be implemented at the Faculty; if the Faculty implements at least one programme of study in more than one form of study, the Code shall also provide the conditions under which the Dean may permit a student to transfer from one form of study to another within the same programme of study.

Article 5

Interruption of Study

1. Studies on a programme of study may be interrupted more than once.

2. The Dean may interrupt the study of a student upon the student’s written application or on his own initiative if this is necessary to prevent harm to the student, provided that the origin of the harm is not related to the previous fulfilment of study obligations. If a student applies for interruption of study after he has proved the fulfilment of obligations in the given unit of study and before he has registered for the following unit of study, and unless disciplinary proceedings have been initiated against the student, the Dean shall grant such application; study may be interrupted in this way for the minimum period of one semester. Paragraph (6) shall not be prejudiced by this provision.

3. The Dean, on his own initiative, shall interrupt the study of a student who is obliged to pay tuition fees under s. 58 (3) or (4) of the Higher Education Act and has failed to pay the fees within 30 days from the posting registered to his own hands of notice to pay such fees; this provision shall not apply, if it appears that there is a substantial fact which would result in the Dean’s recommendation of a reduction, waiver or deferral of payment of the fees. In such case the Dean, with Rector’s permission, shall not interrupt the study on his own initiative, a consequence of Rector’s permission shall be the waiver of time-limit for filing the application for review of the decision on assessment of the fee. If the student applies for a personal interview before the decision, he shall be invited to an interview without any delay.

4. The Dean, on his own initiative, shall interrupt the study of a student who is obliged to pay tuition fees under s. 58 (5) of the Higher Education Act and has failed to pay the fees within 30 days from the posting registered to his own hands of notice to pay such fees; this provision shall not apply, if it appears that there is a case worthy of special consideration, which would result in the specifying by the Dean of different conditions for fulfilling the obligation to pay the fee. If the student applies for a personal interview before the decision, he shall be invited to an interview without any delay.

5. Under paragraph (3) study may be interrupted for the period remaining until the expiration of the maximum duration of study. If the fees have been paid and the person applies for termination of the interruption of study, the Dean shall approve this application and decide to terminate the interruption of study not later than on the last day of the semester in which the application was filed, or on the last day of the academic year if the application was filed during the summer semester or vacations.

6. On the day of interruption of study the student shall lose the status of student under the Higher Education Act, and time for the fulfilment of study obligations shall neither start to run nor continue. Upon termination of interruption of study, the Dean shall decide on the assignment of the student to the appropriate unit of study, if necessary. If the student’s study plan was changed during the interruption of his study, the Dean shall determine which study obligations the student must fulfil as well as deadlines for their fulfilment according to the internal regulation of the Faculty under Art. 19 (1) and the respective programme of study; in this connection he may also impose an obligation on the student to take bridging examinations within a prescribed period of time.

7. Upon expiration of the period of time for which the study was interrupted, the student whose study was interrupted shall acquire the right to re-register for study. If the reasons for interruption no longer apply, the Dean may terminate the interruption of study upon a written application filed by the student whose study was interrupted even before the expiration of the period of interruption. If the person fails to register within the given period of time, the provisions of Art. 4 (6) shall apply.

8. With the exception of cases where the reasons are particularly serious, mainly health reasons, study may not be interrupted before the completion of the first unit of study.

9. The longest overall period of interruption of study (s. 54 (1) of the Higher Education Act) shall be such period which, together with the actual period of study, shall not exceed the maximum duration of study. The actual period of study shall be the period which has elapsed from the date of enrolment in the University minus the period of time during which the study was interrupted.

Article 6

Subjects and Assessment of Study

1. The subject may be realised in the form of lecture, tutorial, seminar, course, practical training, internship, laboratory classes, field trip, individual work or consultation. Depending on its character, the subject may be realised in the full-time, distance learning or combined form of instruction.

2. Unless this Code or, in accordance with this Code, the Internal Regulation of the Faculty under Art. 19 (1) stipulate otherwise, a student shall have the right to register for a subject taught at the University and then, to attend in its instruction and undergo assessment of its study. The members of the Academic Community of the University shall have the right to attend lectures within the University.

3. A subject may take one or two semesters in the same academic year. Each subject shall have an identification code which shall be unique within the University; the system of assignment shall be specified by Rector’s measure.

4. If a subject is a part of more study plans of one or more programmes of study, it must not be assigned different numbers of credits.

5. The study plan may state that
   a) the registration for a given subject has as a prerequisite the completion of another subject or subjects, or simultaneous registration for another subject or subjects,
   b) the completion of a given subject has as a prerequisite the completion of another subject or subjects,
   c) the registration for a given subject is excluded by the simultaneous registration for another subject,
   d) the completion of a given subject is excluded by the previous completion of another subject,
   e) the registration for a given subject is excluded by the previous completion of another subject.

6. For the capacity reasons the Faculty may limit the number of students entitled to register for a given subject; in this connection Faculty may also give priority for a given subject to students enrolling for it in accordance with their recommended study plan. If it is required by generally valid regulations, the registration may be preconditioned by submitting the appropriate medical certificate.
7. The internal regulation of the Faculty under Art. 19 (1) may restrict a repeated registration for the same subject; if, by this restriction, the student is already precluded from successfully completing a compulsory subject within this course of study, such situation shall be considered as a case under Art. 12 (1) (b).

8. The forms of assessment of study shall be
   a) assessment of study of a subject,
   b) continuing checking of the course of study (Art. 4 (5) and (9)),
   c) bridging examination,
   d) comprehensive examination,
   e) state final or state rigorosum examination (hereinafter referred to as “state examination”).

9. Assessment of study of subject means verification of a successful completion of the subject. The forms of this assessment shall be
   a) colloquium
   b) course credit,
   c) course test,
   d) marked course credit,
   e) examination,
   f) combination of the forms under letters (a) to (e) in accordance with paragraph (10).

10. The colloquium, course credit or course test may represent an independent checking of subject, or they may represent a prerequisite for taking an examination; the conditions for acquiring them must be determined in sufficient advance. The internal regulation of the respective Faculty under Art. 19 (1) shall determine the details.

11. The results of colloquium, course credit and course test shall be marked as “pass” - “fail” (“prospěl” - “neprospěl”) or “credit granted” - “credit not granted” (“zápočteno” - “nezápočteno”).

12. As against course credit, a marked course credit shall denote, in the same way as an examination, how well the student fulfilled the requirements for being granted the credit.

13. An examination shall test the student’s knowledge or his ability; basic requirements for the examination shall be determined by the study plan, details of which must be determined in sufficient advance before the beginning of the examination period. The provisions of this paragraph as well as paragraphs (14) to (16) shall apply to the comprehensive examination accordingly.

14. The forms of examination shall be oral, written, practical or combined. Oral examinations and oral parts of combined examinations shall be open to public from among the members of Academic Community of the University; for the capacity reasons, the presence of public may be reasonably limited.
15. The results of examinations shall be marked using the following scale of grades “excellent” (“výborně” (1)), “very good” (“velmi dobře” (2)), “good” (“dobře” (3)), “fail” (“neprospěl/a” (4)). If it is necessary to calculate the average result, all the grades from all the examinations and resits of examinations taken shall be totalled. The internal regulations under Art. 19 (1) of Faculties of Theology may regulate grading in a different way.

16. A student may not take any examination in any subject entered in his study plan more than three times, i.e. he shall have the right to two resit dates; no extraordinary resit date shall be permitted. The number of examination dates must correspond to the number of students and the minimum number of dates is three; the dates must be published no later than the date of the first day of the examination period. If a student fails to appear for an examination on the date for which he has enrolled without duly excusing himself, he shall not be marked; the provision of neither this nor of the first sentence shall constitute the right to arrange for a special examination term.

17. Upon a student’s written application, the Dean may recognize fulfilment of assessment of a subject, provided the student fulfilled a similar study obligation at a university or another higher education institution in the Czech Republic or abroad in the last ten years; in the case of recognition, the Dean shall decide on the possible assignment of an adequate number of credits. The recognition may be tied to taking a bridging examination or examinations within a prescribed period of time.

Article 7
State Examinations

1. State examinations shall be taken before a Board of Examiners (hereinafter referred to as “the Board”).

2. The state examination may consist of more than one part. The examination and the announcement of its results or the results of its parts shall be public.

A record of the course of the State Examination or its part shall be taken and it shall be signed by the President or by an authorised member of the Board acting on his behalf and by all the members of the Board present; at least three members of the Board must be present. More than one board may be established for one programme of study (branch of study).
4. If the State Examination consists of more than one part, the Board shall determine the overall result, taking into account the average result of individual parts of the State Examination; the result of “fail” (“neprospěl/a”) shall be arrived at if at least one part is marked using the grade of “fail” (“neprospěl/a”); if all the parts are marked using the grade of “excellent” (“výborně”), the overall result shall be “excellent”. If a part of the State Examination consists of more than one topical areas, the resulting grade for it shall be generally based on assessment of results from those areas.

5. Parts of a State Examination and respectively its topical areas shall be determined by the programme of study. If the programme of study determines that a Bachelor’s or Master’s Thesis shall be part of the State Examination, the defence of the thesis shall be part of the State Examination.

6. A State Examination or its part may not be taken if the student is subject to disciplinary proceedings in which the Disciplinary Board has proposed the sanction of expulsion from study, the Dean has neither mitigated the sanction by his ruling nor returned the issue back to the Board and the Rector has not cancelled the Dean’s ruling.

7. A student is not entitled to take a part of state examination, unless he has completed the compulsory subjects determined for this part of state examination by study plan. A student is not entitled to take the last part of state examination, unless he further acquired:
   a) the minimum number of credits from the elective subjects determined by study plan
   b) a number of credits equal to the standard length of study in years multiplied by sixty.
   The internal regulation of the Faculty under Art. 19 (1) may also set a number of credits as a prerequisite for taking a part of state examination which is not the last part, and it may further determine the sequence in which the parts of state examination shall be taken.

8. The overall number of credits corresponding to all compulsory subjects for taking the individual parts of the state examination within the given programme of study together with the minimum number of credits from the elective subjects shall not surpass ninety percent of the value under paragraph (7) (b); in cases worthy of special consideration, the internal regulation of the Faculty under Art. 19 (1) may set the limit otherwise, but never higher than ninety-five percent.

9. The Dean of the Faculty shall determine one regular date and two resit dates for the taking of a State Examination or its part. All the dates shall be published on the official notice board not later than one month before the Examination.

10. A student is entitled to take the State Examination or its part within the period of two years. The time starts to run from the first day of the calendar month following the day of his fulfilment of the requirements for taking the State Examination or its part. If the student fails to take the State Examination within this deadline, such situation shall be considered to be a case falling under Art.12 (1) (b); the Faculty shall advise the student of his fulfilment of the requirements for taking the State Examination or its part.
11. If no part of the State Examination was resat or marked using the grade of “good” (“dobře”), the overall result of the Examination is “excellent” (“výborně”), the average of results for the whole duration of study is not higher than 1.5, and in the course of study other relevant conditions set by the internal regulation of the Faculty under Art. 19 (1) were met, a student shall graduate with distinction.

Part III.
Study on Doctoral Programme of Study

3. The fulfilment of an individual study plan shall be subject to regular assessment at intervals no longer than one year; this assessment shall be approved by the Subject Area Board. The conclusion of the assessment shall be that the student

   a) has fulfilled his individual study plan,
   b) has not fulfilled some parts of his individual study plan without serious reason,
   c) has not fulfilled the obligations of his individual study plan; this shall be considered as a case under Art. 12 (1) (b).

4. A student who has fulfilled his individual study plan only partly for reasons worthy of special consideration shall also be assessed according to paragraph (3) (a).

Article 9
Course, Forms of Assessment, and Interruption of Study

1. The maximum duration of study on a Doctoral programme of study shall be eight years; study in the full-time form of study shall be completed in the period corresponding to the

If the student fails to complete his study within the maximum duration period, this shall be considered as a case falling under Art. 12 (1) (b).

2. If a student applies in writing for transfer from one form of study to another form of the same programme of study in which the programme of study is also implemented, the Dean shall approve the application; the provisions of paragraph (1) shall not be prejudiced thereby. The Dean’s measure according to Art. 8 (3) may determine further details.

3. If a student applies in writing for interruption of study and unless disciplinary proceedings have been initiated against the student, the Dean shall approve such application; study may be interrupted in this way for the minimum period of one semester. Paragraph (6) shall not be prejudiced by this provision.

4. The longest overall period of interruption of study shall be five years.

5. A student on a Doctoral programme of study may take an examination in a subject entered in his study plan twice at most, i.e. he shall have the right to one resit date. Results of the examination shall be marked using the grades of “pass – fail“ ("prospěl/a" - "neprospěl/a").

3. Provisions of paragraph (2) shall apply accordingly to the appointment of the President and members of the Board for the defence of the Doctoral Dissertation. The Board shall choose two external examiners who will prepare external examiner’s reports on the submitted Doctoral Dissertation. If the Board uses the grade “fail“ ("neprospěl/a"), it shall determine whether it is necessary to re-write or supplement the work; the defence may be repeated not earlier than in six months. The defence of a Doctoral Dissertation is public. Provisions of Art. 7 (6) shall apply accordingly for a student to take a defence of his Doctoral Dissertation.
